Obama's Liberal Supreme Court The End of Freedom (If we do nothing)! With the sad news of the passing of conservative Associate Justice Antonin Scalia we may be witnessing the passing of the last conservative 5-4 Supreme Court decision. If Comrade Obama appoints the replacement and our RINO controlled Senate approves our Glorious Leader's appointment, then the precarious balance will shift to the extreme left. In the past several years there have been numerous narrow victories for conservatives based on a 5-4 Supreme Court ruling. But now it appears that the balance will move in the opposite direction, i.e. 5-4 leftwing victories. And as we have been told time and time again by those who worship Lincoln's supreme federal government, "The Federal Supreme Court makes the last decision regarding our rights and liberties under the constitution." If we accept this false claim, then "we the people" of once sovereign states can forget about our so called "second amendment rights." We can forget about talk radio and a free internet because the Feds will find a way to allow a reintroduction of the so called "fairness" doctrine. And forget about free speech because under hate crime laws such utterances will become "verboten" and the Federal Gestapo will move against anyone who dares to challenge the dictates of our politically correct thought police.	 And don't think that all will be solved by electing your favorite "conservative" as our next president! You can't "build a wall" or balance the budget if your actions are ruled unconstitutional by an entrenched leftists Supreme Court. Get used to wearing shackles or get ready to do something to reclaim real states' rights. What we need is not an election but a non-violent, peaceful, political revolution! The South is an Exploited Colonial Appendage of the Federal Empire

The graph above demonstrates the unacknowledged fact that “we the people” of the South are second class subjects in the current U.S.A. Note that the section of the U.S. that has the highest per capita income--$40,000—is the Federal Empire’s capitol! The ruling elites of empires always enjoy the fruits of empire. Note also that the overall U.S.A. per capita income is a little over $30,000. All Southern States are below the U.S.A per capita income except for Virginia and Maryland. What do these states have that the rest of the South is lacking? A close geographical connection to the Empire’s capitol that allows the sycophants, bureaucrats, and politicians of the Empire to live in those Southern States. The voting pattern of the Empire’s elites drastically distorts the “conservative” voting pattern of the native population. (This graph was first published in Reclaiming Liberty in 2005). A Pew study demonstrated that a Southern child has a lifetime earning expectation 36% less than a child born in the New England states. This demonstrates the negative impact of being a colonial subject of Lincoln’s created Federal Empire.

Feds Give $750,000 Obamacare to Illegals

The cost to taxpaying Americans of illegal immigration was once again demonstrated by a report obtained by Fox news. The report noted that the Federal government gave three quarters of a million dollars to immigrants without first obtaining their status as legal residents of the U.S.A. Senator R. Johnson (R-WI) called the process “pay and chase.” Just one more example of how we the people are being forced to work for illegal foreigners who will eventually vote to elect more socialist politicians (Democrat and Republican) who will use political power to confiscate more of our property and redistribute it to illegals who voted the politicians into office.

“The people of the United States will find that under the pretense of saving the life of the nation and upholding the old flag, they have surrendered their own liberties into the hands of that worst of all tyrants, a body of senseless fanatics.”

President Jefferson Davis' 1855 cane held by Earl Ijames of the NC Museum of History at the Stephen Dill Lee Institute Feb. 4-5. The cane is made from a kale stalk. President Davis' widow, Varina, gave the cane to her black bodyguard who had been a close friend of the President. Earl Ijames told the S. D. Lee gathering that he had to take his study of black Confederates “underground” while in graduate school.

Black Mississippi Representative Defends Confederacy

Yes, even in this day of political correctness we can still find brave African-Americans who are willing to stand against the forces of anti-South bigotry. Unfortunately, the Black Representative spoke in defense of the South in 1890!

On February 23, 1890, Rep. John Harris of Washington County, Mississippi, a Black Republican legislator, took the floor of the Mississippi House of Representatives and condemned several White Democrats who were unwilling to support the funding of a memorial in honor of the Confederate dead. Rep. Harris stated: "I am sorry that any son of a soldier should go on record as opposed to the erection of a monument in honor of the brave dead...I too, wore the gray, the same color my master wore...if that war had gone on till now I would have been there yet...I want it known to all the world that my vote is given in favor of the bill to erect a monument in honor of the Confederate dead." [The South Was Right!, p. 108.]

Not only did Rep. Harris vote in favor of funding the Confederate Monument but all of his fellow Black Republicans in the Mississippi House of Representatives voted for funding of the monument. Today one can see the fruit of their love of the South in front of the Mississippi State Archives building. The love, courage, and patriotism of these men is very different from the common actions of Southern Rino Republicans and other scalawags who gleefully embrace Karl Marx and Al Sharpton's view of the Confederate States of America—scalawags such as Niki Haley.

On the day following the passage of the bill to fund the Confederate Monument, Representative Moore, another Black Republican Representative noted, "I was born in Mississippi, but raised in a Northern State; associations there led me to regard Southern White men as dire foes to the Negroes, but...you are our best friends." [Ibid, p. 109] This statement is additional evidence of the warm relationship between Black and White Southerners—a relationship that was poisoned by race-hatred brought down South by the conquering Yankee and not something organic to the nature of being Southern.

Irish Struggle for Independence From the British Empire

No people on earth have demonstrated a determination to free their homeland from foreign rule more than the Irish. The English came with sword in hand in 1169 and from that date until 1921 the Irish maintained the dream of a free Ireland. Over seven centuries of foreign occupation would pass before a successful war for independence! From 1169 to 1603 the central government of England gradually extended control of Ireland. Ireland, like all colonies of empires, was used as a source of tribute to fund imperial wars. When Cromwell found himself short of cash to pay troops he confiscated 80% of Irish land from the native population and gave it to his troops as payment.

The British Empire's rule of Ireland was marked by disenfranchising much of the native population, tenant farming, high rents for tenants, tenant evictions for failing to pay British landlord's high rent, and eventually in 1845-48 the Irish Potato Famine. During the Potato Famine, the Irish population fell from 9 million to 3 million as a result of death and immigration. The British Empire did very little to alleviate the sufferings of the Irish "pigs" or "crackers" as they were disparagingly referred to. There is little doubt that had such a famine occurred in England, the powers that be in the Empire would have done everything possible to prevent the needless deaths of its citizens. But the Irish were not citizens of the British Empire—they were subjects of the Empire. Of course a starving Irishman could avoid starvation by enlisting in the British Empire's army. This is what happened to Patrick Cleburne who would eventually migrate to Arkansas and become a Confederate officer and hero!

In 1878 an agricultural crises threatened a repeat of the famine and tenant evictions of the late 1840s. But this time Ireland had a political advocate—Charles Stewart Parnell. Even though he was Protestant he became the leader of a non-violent movement to secure Home Rule for Ireland. His movement helped to remove Irish political lackeys and replace them with Irish nationalists. Even though his party could not command a majority in the British Parliament, they could delay and obstruct all legislation—until the Irish question was settled and the only settlement was Home Rule! Just as it seemed he would achieve his goal, he was brought down by personal scandal. His was an unconventional way of using political action against a more powerful opponent. Home Rule was rejected by Parliament in 1886. The Irish then replaced unconventional politics with unconventional warfare to finally achieve independence in 1921.

Nikki Haley Vice President?

The Benefits of Political Whoredom!

As the Kennedy Twins predicted in our July 2015, Nikki Haley's attack upon Southern heritage was designed to promote her standing among the Republican establishment. Haley took the opportunity of an event completely unrelated to Southern history to lead the charge in removing the Confederate Flag from the State Capital in Columbia, South Carolina. In doing so, she inaugurated an onslaught of Southern cultural genocide unknown in Dixie since the days of William T. Sherman. For Haley it was simple political calculation; trash the South, put distance between herself and the symbols of the Confederate States of America and thereby make Nikki a more acceptable (in the eyes of the Republican establishment and Yankeedom) candidate for office in the Federal Empire.

Nikki Haley (birth name: Nimrata Nikki Randhawa), a child of Sikh parents, Ajit Singh Randhawa and Raj Kaur Randhawa, demands everyone respect her Sikh heritage. She even embraces its pagan rituals and ceremonies and defends her actions as "just part of my heritage." Yet, this woman has crawled into bed with Karl Marx and Al Sharpton by embracing the Marxist's theory of the South fighting to promote and defend slavery! Indeed, politics makes strange bed fellows! Haley has sold herself to the Republican establishment by attacking Southern heritage in an effort to place herself in a position to become the Federal Empire's first female vice president. VICE president indeed! Anyone who sells themselves to the highest bidder, whether in a bordello in New Orleans or the governor's mansion in South Carolina, is a whore! Politics does make strange bedfellows, but a political whore is still a whore! (July's newsletter: http://www.kennedytwins.com/newsletter_jul15.pdf)

"We the People" Are the Federal Empire's Tax Serfs

A recently published study exposed the fact that the Federal government spent over $750,000 providing Obamacare to illegal aliens. See: <http://www.breitbart.com/big-government/2016/02/08/report-govt-granted-up-to-750-million-obamacare-subsidies-to-illegal-immigrants/> Another report noted that the Federal government raked in a record amount of tax revenues in 2015. It amounted to around $19,346 for every full-time and part-time worker in the U.S.A. But even with this large tribute, the Federal Empire still runs a deficit of over $500 Billion! <http://www.cnsnews.com/news/article/terence-p-jeffrey/2883250000000-federal-taxes-set-record-through-august-19346-worker>

In Reclaiming Liberty we point out that the American people have been turned into Uncle Sam's tax serfs. With the emergence of the progressive era in 1900 total Federal Revenue as a percent of Gross Domestic Product was only 3% but by 2000 it was 21%! What did that mean to "we the people?" The per capita tax extracted from a working American in 1900 was $131.00 but by 2000 it was $7,668.00! The problem is that this only takes into account Federal taxes. We still need to add in state and local taxes. But there is yet another problem—this only takes into account direct taxation. It does not include the cost of unfunded mandates, rules and regulations plus the cost of indirect taxation i.e. inflation! All-in-all we are taxed close to 60% of our income! We the people of the once free and sovereign states are now the Federal Empire's tax serfs. The only way to break the chains of Federal bondage is to reclaim real states' rights.

There is a growing movement to call a convention of the states to propose constitutional amendments to return states' rights to we the people. It will only work if we understand that real states' rights cannot exist without the right of nullification and secession.

If you like what you see in this newsletter, help spread the word by sending it to a fellow Southerner. The first step to reclaiming liberty is to educate a large number of Southern activist about the need to establish real states' rights. A constitutionally limited republic of republics is impossible without real states' rights.

Yankees: Purveyors of Hate

“I was fed just like I was one of the [master’s] children. They even done put me to bed with them. You see, this discrimination on color wasn’t as bad then [during slavery] as it is now.” Elija Henry Hopkins, Slave Narratives, Ark. [The South Was Right!, p. 97] “De times was better fo’ de war.” Jane Georgiana, Slave Narrative, Ala., [Ibid, p. 98]. No, these former slaves were not defending slavery but on the other hand, they demonstrate that they did not hate their white folks! The point of former slaves hating slavery but not their master is lost on most Americans, particularly modern Southerners. We have been indoctrinated by many years of the Federal Empire’s propaganda which declares that the relationship between Black and White Southerners has always been a hate-filled and adversarial relation. Yet nothing could be more incorrect.

Eight months after the defeat of the Confederate States of America by the Federal Empire, Yankee General Carl Schurz (a radical socialist and forty-eighter from Germany) was sent down South to help determine what needed to be done to keep the defeated South under Yankee control. One very important fact that he reported back to his superiors in Washington was the close relationship that still existed between former slave and master. Schurz noted: “Centuries of slavery have not been sufficient to make them [freed slaves] the enemies of the white man.” This posed a problem to the Republican controlled government in Washington. If former slaves voted with their white (former master) friends, the South would gain near control of the lower house of congress. Many former Confederates were speculating on promoting good will between the races in order to promote the common good of all Southerners. For example, General Beauregard stated: “The Negro is Southern born; with a little education and some property qualifications he can be made to take sufficient interest in the affairs and prosperity of the South to insure an intelligent vote.” Even General Forrest believed that Black and White Southerners had more in common with each other than with Yankees. When asked about allowing former slaves voting rights, General Forrest stated: “I do not think I would favor their disenfranchisement. We will stand by those who help us...I would sooner trust him than the white scalawag or carpet-bagger.” [‘Sharecropping: Northern Imposed Post War Slavery,’ http://www.kennedytwins.com/Sharecropping_New_Slavery.pdf p. 27.] In 1875 General Forrest, while speaking to a group of Black civic leaders stated: “We were born on the same soil, breathe the same air, live in the same land, and why should we not be brothers and sisters...go to the polls and select the best men to vote for...Although we differ in color, we should not differ in sentiment...Do your duty as citizens, and if any are oppressed, I will be your friend.” [Ibid]

Now reconsider the words of Rep. Moore (Black Mississippi Representative Defends Confederacy): “You [White Southerners] are our best friends.” Racial animosity and bitterness was brought down South by the conquering Yankee and used to keep Southerners fighting among themselves and not working (voting) together against a common enemy, aka, the Federal Empire. Southern poverty & Northern prosperity was the end result!

Ron Kennedy Speaking at Steven D. Lee Institute in Columbia, SC Feb. 6, 2016. Ron’s topic was “Sharecropping: Yankee Imposed Post War Slavery.” Most Southerners do not understand that the so called Civil War did not end slavery it merely morphed it into an even more oppressive form of bondage—a bondage that included not only newly freed slaves but whites who were impoverished by Yankee invasion and occupation. Prior to the War there were approximately 4 million black Southerners held in chattel slavery. For almost a hundred years post War there were 8.5 million white and black Southerners held in debt peonage (sharecropping). Over sixty percent were white. [For copy of recently published article and footnotes re Sharecropping Slavery see url in article above]
