Nikki Haley Excluded Due to Her Pro-Immigration Stand

According to a recent news report U.N. Ambassador Nikki Haley was recently specifically excluded from a meeting at the White House held to discuss immigration and resettlement policies. Haley is well known for the key role she played in initiating the recent round of slanderous, anti-South cultural genocide. A role that “we the people of Dixie” must keep before the public as the establishment continues to groom her as a potential candidate for president.

Haley is loved by the Washington, D.C. establishment and according to sources has close ties to the Never Trump movement. For example: Jon Lerner is her chief of staff. Who is Jon Lerner? Jon worked for the pro-immigration Koch brothers running a Never Trump organization for the billionaire brothers. Lerner was instrumental in developing FWD.us which is Mark Zuckerberg’s organization lobbying to destroy U.S. borders and open immigration to all comers.

Nikki evidentially believes it is OK for her to celebrate her heritage but she eagerly denies the same right to those whose ancestors wore the gray in the War for Southern Independence. In a trip to her “homeland” of India she (incorrectly) proclaimed, "America is a country of immigrants. It's the fabric of America to have multiple cultures. Multiple populations. Multiple heritages that do come into America that make it what it is." If we do not establish Shadow Governments across the South—we will end up with people like Nikki Haley as “our” president. ANTIFA Professor
Gets Probation
For Felony Assault Against Conservative

The political science professor who attacked pro-Trump demonstrators with a bike lock was charged with four counts of felony assault with a deadly weapon resulting in significant bodily harm. The assault occurred in April of 2017 at Berkeley during an attack by ANTIFA types against peaceful conservatives. According to the police report up to three individuals were attacked by a man wearing a black mask and wielding a black iron bike lock. This was not the political science professor's first run-in with the law. He was also involved with a Black Lives Matter protest involving the police—the professor is white.

What should be the punishment for a masked individual who uses potentially deadly force against peaceful citizens exercising their First Amendment right of peaceful assembly? What can you expect from a sanctuary state like California? After much online uproar and public pressure, the local police located and arrested the professor—who immediately invoked his right to remain silent and his right to an attorney. [Rights for me but not for thee!] California justice—left-wing justice for a fellow-traveler—resulted in the professor pleading “no contest” to one misdemeanor battery charge. All felony charges were dropped plus the claim that he had “caused serious bodily injury” was removed from his record. California has a law that adds punishment when a crime is committed while wearing a mask—that charge was also dismissed.

A Country of Our Own

Do you at times find yourself turning off the news and wondering “What has happened to this country?” Have you ever wondered if the men who faced German or Japanese gun-fire during World War II would have braved such horrible dangers if they had been told that one day their federal government would make it legal for male sexual perverts to follow their granddaughters into a public restroom? Do you think the men who faced death on Pork Chop Hill in Korea would have been happy to know that one day in the very near future the federal government would declare the very mention of God and prayer in public spaces “unconstitutional” while vigorously protecting and promoting the anti-Christian religion of Islam in the United States? What do you think the men who braved death during the Siege of Khe Sanh fighting to protect the borders of South Vietnam from Northern encroachment would have thought about their federal government advocating virtual open borders for the United States? At some point in time “we the people” of the once sovereign states must decide if it is time for us to either reclaim “our” country or establish one of our own.

Joe Biden Joins Hillary Clinton Calling Us “Dregs of Society”

In a recent speech to the Human Rights Campaign in Washington, DC former Vice President and potential 2020 presidential candidate Joe Biden described conservatives who supported the Trump Administration as being “virulent people” and “dregs of society.” According to their website the Human Rights Campaign’s annual “Dinner draws more than 3,600 guests to celebrate advancements in the fight for LGBTQ equality and to recommit to the work that still lies ahead.”

You may want to remember this event, its speakers, and their message when you run into “loyal, patriotic, flag-waving Americans” who are still suffering under the illusion that this is a country that lives up to its motto “In God We Trust.” As an aside these precious words were written by a Southerner!

The late M. E. Bradford, PhD from Texas described folks making up the politically correct crowd who now control America’s media, educational institutions and its political (deep state) systems as people who have abandoned the “permanent things.” Things such as tradition based upon Biblical morality that had been followed for over four thousand years; C. S. Lewis described such folks as “people without chests,” folks who have abandoned moral absolutes, and no longer have a sense of “duty to parents and ancestors.” He warned people in 1944 what would happen if they allow such folks to rule society, “We laugh at honor and are shocked to find traitors in our midst.” [Biden story at] <https://www.breitbart.com/big-government/2018/09/17/joe-biden-trump-supporters-virulent-dregs-society/>

Commander's Comments: Coming To New SCV Website

One of the new and exciting sections of the Make Dixie Great Again web site (currently under construction) is a video titled 'Commander's Comment.' This will be a monthly update by the Commander—in-Chief of the Sons of Confederate Veterans. Recently Commander-in-Chief Paul Gramling, Jr. traveled to Flora, Mississippi to have the first of many more such videos produced. Thanks to the help of compatriot Ray Shores of the Mississippi Division, SCV, a studio and recording/editing equipment has been made available for use by the Heritage Operations of the SCV.

In a question and answer format, this first video explains what the SCV and the Southern Victory Campaign will accomplish. But the Commander also explains why, at this time, it has become necessary for the SCV to "go on the offensive" and "take back the narrative." As is explained in the video, all things of great value in American society are under attack today by the same group of neo-Marxists. Their ultimate intent is not just the banning of Confederate Flags and monuments but the destruction of all traditional American values. Traditional values are based upon the acknowledged history of a people—change the history (narrative) and all traditions based upon the true history will come crashing down.

True history provides a society with its landmarks. When all the familiar road signs have been destroyed on the boulevard of life and all the buoys which mark the safe passage through the stream of life are destroyed, how then shall we live but in a state of constant anarchy? Anarchy is the breeding ground for Marxist revolution and this is THE reason for the ongoing neo-Marxist attack on traditional American values. As Commander Gramling explains in his first 'Commander's Comments' on Make Dixie Great Again web site, we the people of the South are on the front lines of the defense of the honorable values of America. If the most noble Christian gentleman in American history, the most noted and studied American military leader, and recognized and honored American in the first 200 years of its independence, Robert E. Lee, can be destroyed by the neo-Marxists, nothing, including the Constitution itself, is safe. Like the little Dutch Boy who plugged the hole of a leaky dike, we the people of Dixie are now the vanguard opposing the neo-Marxists rabble. We must work to arouse our fellow citizens of the South and the United States to the impending danger we face and they must understand that the same forces which are attacking all traditional American values are the very ones who attacked the South first and that attack continues.

[If all continues to go well we expect the new website to be up and running by mid-October]

Authors of The South Was Right! and Punished With Poverty

- In 1866 General R. E. Lee wrote that if the North used its victory to destroy States' Rights then the United States would become "aggressive abroad and despotic at home."
- In 1870 General Lee declared, "If I had known what those people intended to do with their victory there would have been no surrender at Appomattox."
- Lincoln, his Republican and crony capitalist allies unconstitutionally converted America's original Republic of Sovereign States into a North American and eventually global Yankee Empire.
- President Jefferson Davis noted, "The lust of empire impelled them [Yankees] to wage against their weaker neighbors [the South] a war of subjugation."
- The Yankee Empire's invasion and conquest of the Confederate States of America was its first international conquest—it would not be its last!

"The Kennedy Twin's new book Yankee Empire is The South Was Right! on steroids," Dr. Sandy Mitcham, Historian SCV Heritage Operations.

The Deep State did not begin with Obama—it was made possible by Lincoln's successful war against real States' Rights.

There is a reason for expressions such as "Damn Yankee" and "Yankee Go Home."

CIC Paul Gramling's Southern Victory Plan

Discussed at Louisiana Division Executive Committee (DEC)

CIC Paul Gramling and the Kennedy Twins attended the Louisiana SCV DEC meeting September 22. Donnie made a presentation to the general session detailing CIC Gramling's Southern Victory Plan. It was one of the best attended DEC meetings we have attended—not only in numbers at the general meeting but, more importantly, the enthusiasm of the attendees was outstanding!

For the first time in the SCV's or the UCV's history we have a plan to take the fight to our enemy. No doubt some folks find this strategy strange and may be confused as to how it will work (see article on pages 8-12).

The Kennedy Twins (one or both) are available if your Division, Brigade or Camp would like to hear more about the Southern Victory Plan, Radio Free Dixie, our new website www.makedixiegreatagain.org, and the Confederate Legion. All we require is that our expenses be covered.

Constructive Criticism or Destructive Ignorance—It Is Hard to Say

Below is a copy of an e-mail recently received from an SCV member who is less than enthusiastic about the Southern Victory Plan and our response to the critical e-mail. We acknowledge that no plan is perfect and constructive criticism is very important and solicited as a means to improve a current plan or substitute a better plan. The following e-mail is an example of how not to make constructive suggestions. In fact, from the tone and tenor of the e-mail we are left wondering if the individual has an unacknowledged agenda that he is seeking to promote—you be the judge.

Again, just to make sure everyone understands our position: Honest constructive criticism is something every leader should take seriously. But at times it is difficult to determine if the criticism is motivated by a true desire to help or if it is motivated by jealousy or even anger because a favored candidate lost a recent election—such as the reaction of liberals to the recent presidential elections. Or perhaps it could be that the individual offering the criticism is not as well informed as he presumes himself to be.

From The E-Mail Sent to the Chairman of Heritage Operations

[Our response to his e-mail begins on page 10]

I read your "Forward the Colors" editorial in the September/October 2018 issue of Confederate Veterans magazine. I'm a little unsure about your Confederate Legion idea. Here are some reasons why: [Note: We added the numbering of his paragraphs].

(1) For $50 a year, I feel members will want something more than pro-South ads on a smattering of country and talk radio stations across the Confederation that they may not even hear. You need to market this idea to the general public like any company would for a product or service. Maybe in return for their investment, provide an annual snazzy pin or patch - something to commemorate their generosity toward your cause. Manufactured in bulk, it would cost you maybe $0.50 to $1 apiece? I think your donators are worth that, at least. Personally, I don't think you're going to fix problems like this by throwing money at it.

(2) I'm not sure how the pro-South ads will have the same impact as our enemies' "noise" via the vast liberal media that support them. Yes, I agree - education is ONE key. The other key? Open minds. It does not matter if you have all the facts and truth on your side; those with closed minds will not change their way of thinking. Three years ago, I discovered what was happening to Confederate flags, monuments and icons after the horrendous church murders in South Carolina. I instinctively knew what was happening was wrong, even though I was an average history student and had the typical WBTS government indoctrination in school (Union = good, Confederate = bad because they fought to keep slavery, etc., etc.). But I had an open mind. I wasn't recruited; I joined the SCV of my own volition because they were the only group (it seemed) that was against all this anti-Confederate nonsense.

(3) Does your 70% passive supporters statistic include a percentage of people who don't care either way if Confederate monuments are kept or removed?

(4) How are you going to counter all the liberal college professors who are teaching the next generation of noisemakers to disregard those pro-South ads they've been hearing on the radio/seeing on TV/reading in the paper? What are you planning to do about that? The only thing colleges/universities understand is money - hit 'em in the pocketbook. If alumni donations, enrollments, etc. are seriously declining, they'll sit up and listen and do anything to fix it.

(5) Most people do not understand the true history of the South nor do they understand the true value of our Southern Heritage. Do they even care? In this day and age of self-gratification, what do most people care about? Being entertained as much as possible, mostly. Look at churches; your biggest churches (membership-wise) have live bands and lavish audio-visual setups. If it's not entertaining, why bother to go to church? Look at the workplace; everyone has to be plugged in listening to their favorite tunes while working.

(6) You want us to help identify these media-friendly outlets? How do we go about doing that? I have a saying: "If you want me to do you a favor, make it easy for me to do." In other words, HELP ME TO HELP YOU. What should I say when contacting media outlets? Every media outlet is going to say they're "fair and friendly". Do you have a scripted letter to read/write? You should have provided something like that with your editorial. Make it easy for us to do what you want us to do, and we will be more likely to do it. As a Camp Adjutant, I am ALWAYS trying to make it easy for our members to do the tasks needed from them. I have a feeling that true "fair and friendly" media outlets have low circulation/listeners/viewers. That's not going to help our cause much.

(7) Should we be using the same tactics that our enemy used to get what they want, to get what we want? Or does our Southern hospitality and nature prevent us from doing that?

(8) Don't get me wrong. I'm not trying to rain on your parade. I'm genuinely happy there's a Kennedy as Chief of Heritage Operations. But after reading your editorial I have to wonder if you're going about this the right way. I think you might be overestimating the willingness of the membership to do this. (Much like the whole SCV Museum fiasco.) This isn't the 1950's or 60's when people were active and go-getters. This is a different age we live in, and you seriously need to think of something that will light a fire under these people...if they still care.

[Signature and Division redacted-the signature indicated he is a Division officer]

Our Response

Dear Concerned SCV Divisional Officer,

Thank you for taking the time to offer your criticism of Commander-In-Chief Gramling's "Southern Victory Plan." I congratulate you on joining the SCV "three years ago." The Kennedy Twins have been members for over thirty years—we hope that your positive contributions to the SCV will be even longer.

First let me make it clear that this is not my or the Kennedy Twins' effort—it is an effort of the SCV—we are merely trying to implement this bold and even audacious plan. I say this because in six of your eight paragraphs you refer to the SCV's efforts as "your [Kennedy's]" plan, "your [Kennedy's] cause" and what "you [Kennedy]" are going to do—making it appear to be a personal charge against us. If this bold plan is to succeed, it must be supported by the vast majority of our members. Never in the history of the SCV or the UCV (United Confederate Veterans) have we attempted to motivate the general public to actively support our Cause. We have read every issue of the original Confederate Veteran published by the UCV beginning with Volume I, Number 1, January 1893 through Volume XL, Number 12, December 1932. In addition, we have also read all the extant copies of the current Confederate Veteran published by the SCV and have not found any plan even offered—much less carried out to successful completion—to counter the vicious anti-South slander coming from the victors in the War for Southern Independence. The Kennedy Twins do their research!

In paragraph (1) you suggest that we spend money creating "annual snazzy pin or patch" or other such inducements for contributors. We take the opposite view—we must assure those who donate that every dollar collected will be used to advance the Cause understanding that no more than 10% will be used to cover expenses such as mailings, video production, website maintenance and such. You end the paragraph by declaring "I don't think you're going to fix problems like this by throwing money at it." This seems to run counter to your prior suggestion regarding producing and providing "annual snazzy" inducements because it would be very expensive to strike medals and mail them to over 3,000 donors.

In paragraph (2) you state “I’m not sure how the pro-South ads will have the same impact as our enemies’ “noise” via the vast liberal media that support them.” You appear to be confused as to the target audience—our goal is to change passive supporters—people who already have a strong affinity for the South—into active supporters. Radio Free Dixie will consist of a network of radio stations across the South on which we will run one-minute ads promoting positive aspects about our Southern heritage and inviting the audience to visit our Heritage Operations website www.makedixidgreatagain.org for more information. From our study of experts in social behavior, such as Jacques Ellul and Gustave Le Bon as well as from military strategists such as Liddell Hart, Baron De Jomini, and Fredrick the Great of Prussia we have learned that with bold action even a relatively small number can produce great results. Fredrick the Great stated, “The primary maxim for an offensive war is to formulate ambitious plans so that if they succeed they will produce really significant results.” Ellul noted that it takes only a small amount of counter-information to undo the effects of the victors’ propoganda. In other words, it takes must less effort for local freedom fighters to win the hearts and minds of an occupied people, while the oppressor—the liberal establishment in our situation—must maintain virtually total control of information. As we explained, the South since Appomattox has never tried to boldly and consistently counter the victors’ false and slanderous narrative.

In paragraph (3) you question the validity of our data regarding the approximately 70% of Southerners who currently support or have a positive view of Southern/Confederate heritage. I politely remind you that this is not the Kennedy Twins “first rodeo.” We have researched and published our thoughts regarding the South for over a quarter of a century in thirteen books (number fourteen to be released next month), and numerous journal and blog articles. As far back as 1995 we published the results of two public opinion polls (with appropriate footnotes to allow doubters to check our sources) which demonstrated that 71% of Southerners supported the Confederate flag and that 20% thought that the South would be better off as an independent nation. See page 265 of Why Not Freedom! In the Kennedy Twins newsletter, we have cited similar polls conducted in 2015, and 2016.

In paragraph (4) you demand to know what we plan to do about “liberal college professors.” That would be tangent to, i.e., a positive side-effect of the effort to arouse passive supporters and turn them into vocal active supporters. But you make an excellent point in that something must be done to counter-act and eventually shut-down tax payer funded liberal brainwashing stations masquerading as universities—note: we advocate shutting down the liberal brainwashing not the universities. Such efforts are political issues that are beyond the realm of the SCV but we do address such political issues in Dixie Rising-Rules for Rebels.

The answer to your questions in paragraph 5 is covered in reply number 4 & 6.

In paragraph (6) you asked “Do you have a scripted letter to read/write? You should have provided something like that with your editorial.” We will respond to your reprimand for failing to providing you with a “scripted letter” by noting that we think you are once again confused. The intention is to first identify those media outlets that are friendly. We in Heritage Operations at the national level need to know who our potential media friends are, at the local level, to allow us to contact them with our information. Information for your use will be available on our new website but we must first complete the website! A great deal of personal time and money has been put into this effort already—remember that by the date of your e-mail we had only been officially working on this project for less than 60 days! We assure you that you will have more resources available before the end of the year.

In paragraph (7) we are not sure what you are suggesting because it seems that you want to mimic the acts of ANTIFA types. I can assure you that Southern civility is not dead and we will never react as street thugs. We made it clear in Dixie Rising-Rules for Rebels that non-violent methods are the only legitimate way for us to achieve our goals.

In paragraph (8) you very scornfully assure us that you don't intend to “rain on your parade.” Just to remind you—this is not our parade. It is not a parade—it is an attempt to set in motion an effort to vindicate the Cause of Freedom for which our Confederate ancestors so gallantly fought. You informed us that “after reading your editorial I have to wonder if you're going about this the right way.” Here is where “the rubber meets the road” as we used to say in Mississippi. If not this way then what way? A key part of constructive criticism is not just to disagree but to offer alternatives. The Kennedy Twins have put in writing our plans and ideas for reclaiming the South's lost inheritance. We have carefully footnoted our ideas. We have opened ourselves up to our critics and given them something to “shoot at.” But so far no one has come up with an alternative! You may have some excellent ideas but, where are they? Set them down in writing and let the world critique your ideas. Who knows perhaps you have the perfect solution but until then we shall keep our eyes on the prize of vindicating the Cause and press on.

Respectfully submitted,

Walter Donnie Kennedy, Chief Heritage Operations

James Ronald Kennedy, Deputy of Promotions
